C. OF C. MEMBERS HEAR ADDRESS BY PHONE EXECUTIVE

A. E. Smith of Indianapolis
Defends Proposed Increase of Rates.

Confidence, based upon a closer understanding between the utility companies and their users, the public, was the keynote of an address delivered yesterday noon at a meeting of the chamber of commerce in the Mishawaka hotel by A. E. Smith, General Commercial Superintendent of the Indiana Bell Telephone Co., of Indianapolis. Mr. Smith described in intimate detail the work and undertakings of the phone company better, if possible, the service and showed how stupendous amounts had to be expended by the concern in growing cities, such as Mishawaka, upon which there would be no tangible return, for a number of years.

The Indianapolis executive stated that the phone company, along with other industries was handicapped for liquid capital. New developments, more lines and expanding business requires funds, and these, Mr. Smith declared, were almost impossible through the present rates. He told how efforts had been made and are being made to raise the money through sale of 9 percent gold bonds in the company's stock, but how due to the present tension in financial circles, these efforts had not met with much success.

The address was in no means a plea but a straightforward talk in which only the facts were presented. He pointed out the phone company as well as all other public utilities, were servants of the public. The phone company is anxious to maintain a closer relationship with its users in every city where there service is being maintained and to receive advice from its customers.

In explanation of the vast amount of capital expended in placing lines in growing cities he declared that over $200,000,000 had been expended in placing lines to city additions were only two or three of a total number of perhaps 100 were in use. The company must bear the cost of these works for several years or more until the district is built up sufficiently to use the remaining lines. During this length of time the company must take a severe loss on depreciation etc., but in the end the process is justifiable, as if only two or three lines had been placed originally, they would have had to be torn down as the district was built up, causing a much greater expenditure.

BOY SCOUTS BUSY IN CHARITY DRIVE

Lads Help Red Cross by Distributing Placards in Business District.

Enthusiastic efforts of Boy Scouts who are "doing their bit" toward making the annual Red Cross drive a success, were marked yesterday by placards on display in numerous business houses and factories in the city. The scouts have promised to distribute all of the posters and will endeavor to finish the factory and business section today. As soon as they have been issued to these places, the residence district will be taken care of, the authorities announced.

An unusually large supply of posters have been received by the Red Cross here in view of the proposed large drive. It is planned to have a poster in every home in Mishawaka, besides numerous displays in factories and business houses.

"Everybody a member" is the slogan adopted by the Red Cross for this year. Because of the abnormal conditions in the country, more requests for shelter, clothing and food than ever before are expected and the goal for the drive, in view of this, has been set for about twice the amount of last year.

Mah Felt; Injun Jim, Clayton Fox, and Lighthouse man, Edna Felt.

TEMPLE

"After Your Own Heart," featuring Tom Mix, will be the chief attraction at the Temple theater today and tomorrow. This is Mix's latest comedy and has all the fine characteristics attendant on productions in which this popular western actor appears. The plot is entertaining and as consistent as it is possible for a comedy of this kind to be. Of course the finale in which a number of men are shot and a house is entirely demolished by a brigade of automobiles, headed by Mix, is a bit far-fetched, but the average audience this is the real thrill of the picture. Tony, Mix's favorite horse, is much in evidence and on his back Tom chases a runaway and rescues the girl, then lassos the horse. There are some well photographed scenes, taken from an aeroplane, and many dashes of good comedy, among them the scenes at Parker's ranch, where the "double bit" cowboys are treated to a buffet lunch and labor with the rules of etiquette. In addition to this their pictures of the Notre Dame-Army game will be shown.
